Les Alpes du Léman area, a mountain territory that can be experienced and shared with no limits all year round. Exit mass tourism, we cultivate here the art of living and receiving, of taking time and enjoying the wonders of nature.

This winter, life will always be more beautiful #LàOh! Experience a magical, wild mountain to explore and share.

Cocooning accommodations, to enjoy the calm and peaceful nature.

Family resorts, accessible to all to enjoy skiing. Children will be the kings of the summits with activities that will make them happy and that will participate in their discovery of the mountain environment in winter. For lovers of calm and serenity, the far north side of our intimate valleys will be conducive to their discovery off the beaten track.

THE ROC D'ENFER NATURA 2000 AREA

The Roc d'Enfer massif is home to a rare and fragile mountain ecosystem. Due to the richness of its biodiversity, it has been designated to join the "Natura 2000" network (European network for the protection of natural areas).

The site: 4,050 ha from 1,050m to 2,243m above sea level. It is home to 26 habitats of European interest (3 priority), 17 species of European interest (15 birds) and 30 protected plants.

Cohabitation with winter practices

Several sites in the massif are ideal for cross-country skiing or snowshoeing. These wild spaces are appreciated and must be preserved. Winter refuge areas for the Black Grouse are materialized in order to enforce the tranquility of wildlife, which needs calm to save precious energy during the winter (defense zone, necessary for the reproduction of the Black Grouse).

A PRESERVED NATURE

TRES LE MONT

MOUNTAIN PASTURE

At Lullin

The Très-le-Mont mountain pasture offers a wild and calm atmosphere from the first snowfall, in winter (access by road is closed). Access by snowshoes is from the Col du Feu (1h). Once you arrive at the mountain pasture, admire the panorama of Lake Geneva and the Swiss mountains and enjoy the tranquility of the place. The feeling of being alone in the world in the great white.

SNOWSHOES and YURTS

On the mountain pasture of Très-le-Mont, Bertrand (AMM) sets up his yurt every autumn. All winter long, he makes you discover this mountain pasture and the history of our mountains. On a clear day you can enjoy an evening on the astronomy theme. And to comfort yourself, the evening continues in the yurt where you will taste the fondue before going down to the Col du feu.

THE CHABLAIS GEOPARC UNESCO

From geological forces to human activities, the identity of Chablais has been shaped over millennia.

An exceptional geological, cultural and human heritage which has earned the territory UNESCO recognition through the Global Geopark label. The Lac de Vallon is one of the emblematic sites of the geopark, it can also be visited in winter, equipped with snowshoes. The opportunity to discover an enchanting universe rich in its geological history.

SNOWSHOEING

Heritage, panorama, gourmet, roaming... it's up to you to choose your theme for the walk.

Gourmet walk: snowshoe walk under the stars and meal by the fire.

Igloo time: You will discover the different ways to build an igloo. And for the most motivated, construction of an aperitif igloo!

Fondue igloo hike: Snowshoe hike at sunset to the igloo and fondue on caribou skins

Hiking map reading and orientation:

Passionate Bertrand, will introduce you to map reading and orienteering

Bow snowshoe hike: The Raquett'Arc is a biathlon suitable for everyone, snowshoes, equipped with a bow and arrows.

Orientation snowshoes race : map and compass in hand, discover the snowy mountain

Lightpainting luminous hike: experience combining photography and hiking. A unique and bright memory.

Snowshoeing and yoga hike: hike with outdoor yoga breaks in the middle of snowy landscapes.

NORDIC ACTIVITIES

Dry-tooling on the new Habères dry site

Dry-tooling is winter climbing on mixed terrain (stone, snow and ice). This practice is ideal for discovering apinism and ice climbing.

Newly equipped, the Habères dry site in Habère-Poche is a winter mountaineering site dedicated to mixed climbing and drytooling. Adventure terrain site, with 16 routes from 17 to 38m and from level M2 to M6+ (initiation to advanced level, mixed rating).

The approach is by ski touring or chairlift then on foot (20 mins)

This winter, discover this activity supervised by a high mountain guide to introduce you to ice climbing.

And after... The icefalls at the foot of the Roc d'Enfer allow you to deepen the discovery of the activity in extraordinary and preserved places such as the Cascade du Roc d'Enfer, the Cascade de Souvroz...

Ski touring

"Our valleys are ideal for practicing ski touring. The Green Valley is perfect for discovery or initiation outings; outings of 1h to 3h to reach the peaks of Hirmentaz for example, with a low drop. The descent is done by the slopes or off-piste nearby.

For the more experienced, I recommend going towards Bellevaux : the Pointe de Chalune and the Roc d'Enfer, higher mountains."

This winter discover the pleasure of winter ski touring, through sumptuous landscapes and memorable descents or dryt-tooling in the company of Vincent, high mountain guide

The Pulka My first sled From 4 years old

For a Great North atmosphere in Haute-Savoie, the exclusive activity of Les Alpes du Léman is the Scandinavian pulka: an activity to share with our four-legged friends Husky, Malamute, Greenlander. During the winter season, an ideal activity for children and families who favor the relationship with the dog. The program for this Scandinavian pulka outing: the discovery of the snowy scenery of the Roc d'Enfer massif connected to the pulka and the dog by an elastic leash. Walking becomes easier thanks to the help of your companion, the parents learn to guide and direct it by voice. When the ground allows it, the pulka can welcome its little passenger, from 4 years old, if the child is accompanied by one of his parents! A partir de 45€ / per pulka.

TERROIR & LOCAL PRODUCTS

La Vardaf Brewery

La Vardaf is a microbrewery located in Bellevaux, in Haut-Chablais, a brewery inspired by the precepts of the circular economy, which aims to promote materials, know-how and a certain idea of conviviality.

“Zero waste” philosophy

We are working to optimize water consumption; the draff (cereal residue after brewing) is used as animal feed and the bottles are all returned for reuse. Even the label is at least recyclable, or even reusable.

Vardaf beers are all brewed from organic malts and hops, sourced locally. And then, each time, a little something extra: spices, flowers or aromatic plants. La Vardaf invites you to explore, with subtlety and respect, the wealth of scents and flavors that biodiversity offers us: a wealth sometimes hidden right there, very close, at the bend of a path, a garden, a forest.
